

TRUMP:

Thank you very much, this is very familiar territory — news conferences — because we used to give them on an almost daily basis. I think we probably maybe won the nomination because of news conferences. And it's good to be with you.

We stopped giving them because we were getting quite a bit of inaccurate news. But I do have to say that -- and I must say that - I want to thank a lot of the news organizations here today because they looked at that nonsense that was released by maybe the intelligence agencies -- who knows? but maybe the intelligence agencies, which would be at tremendous blot on their record if they in fact did that, a tremendous blot.

Because a thing like that should have never been written -- it should never have been had, it should certainly have never been released. But I want to thank a lot of the news organizations for -- some of whom have not treated me very well over the years.

A couple in particular -- and they came out so strongly against that fake news and the fact that it was written about by primarily one group and one television
